

Annual Report from the Board of Regents (BOR) Research Award Committee

April 23, 2014

The call for nominations for the BOR's system-wide research award was distributed via email to the CCSU community in December, and the committee received six excellent nominations before the January 24 deadline. After careful deliberation, we arrived at consensus around the nomination of Dr. Oscar Perdomo, Associate Professor of Mathematical Sciences. On February 18, we forwarded his name to Provost Carl Lovitt as CCSU's choice for the BOR Research Award. Following their own deliberations about the nominee from each state university, the Regents designated Professor Perdomo as the winner of the system-wide award for research. Like us, they were most likely dazzled by both his productivity and his international recognition. We congratulate Oscar, and also our five other campus nominees: Ours was not an easy decision. We are grateful to have served on a committee charged with reviewing and evaluating such excellent work.

Submitted by Karen Beyard (Educational Leadership & Instructional Technology) on behalf of Cathy Kurkjian (Reading and Language Arts), Kathy Martin-Troy (Biomolecular Sciences), Dan Miller (Management and Organization), Barbara Nicholson (Biology), and Ben Tyson (Communication).