- 1.) Central Cares: Petition and Constitution for Central Cares presented by Jennifer Hislop. A community service initiative that grew out of the Technology Education Club is interested in forming a group of its own that will be more inclusive of students from other academic disciplines participating. TEECA will remain supportive but will now not be the host of the "GO Baby Go Project". The Go Baby Go initiative will now be the central mission of Central Cares. Jennifer Hislop a social work major shared how the project has benefited from having input from a variety of students involved.

16-03 Motion to Recommend Recognition of CCSU Cares R. Vickrey
2nd to motion W. Watkins

Committee unanimously recommended recognition of this new group.

- 2.) Broadcast Club: Kristen Theodore presented petition and constitution for Broadcast Club.

Ms. Theodore explained that right now only students in upper level classes get the opportunity to try out their broadcast abilities, having a club would enable CCSU students to test out their skills in front of a camera sooner. The group plans to work with Darren Sweeney in journalism to facilitate use of the university studio at least once a week. Right now the group is an academic based student organization with interest in possible moving toward putting out a product sometime in the future. The product might be a CCSU news show or other type of student production. The committee asked about review of student content.

Ms. Theodore indicated that use of the studio at this point would require close work with faculty therefore allowing for criticism and critique. S. Sweeney pointed out that as a club if the group puts out a product (student run TV show) it would be wise for the group to develop an editorial process and a set of standards. As a club no prior review would be required. If the group ceases to be just an academic club and puts out a product they may become a media board member group. Media Board membership is only available to media groups putting out a product on a regular schedule. Though they are not eligible for Media Board membership at this time they are always welcome to attend Media Board Meetings.

16-04 Motion to recommend recognition of Broadcast Club. R. Vickrey
2nd to motion C. Fox

Motion was unanimously approved.

Next meeting scheduled for Monday January 25 at 11:00 provided Professor Saha and L. George approve.
